Introduction

This Annual Abstract of Statistics for the United Kingdom has been prepared by the Central Statistical Office in collaboration with the statistics divisions of government departments.

2. The name of the department or organisation providing the statistics is shown under each table. Some of the statistics provided by government departments are actually collected by other organisations such as the national associations. The assistance provided by these organisations is gratefully acknowledged.

3. In addition, an Index of Sources is given on pages 479 to 489, which sets out the official publications or other sources from which the statistics are taken or to which reference can be made. The tables in this issue contain the latest statistics available, even though they may not yet have appeared in departmental publications.

4. Most of the tables in this Abstract of Statistics give annual figures, so far as they are available, for each of the years 1968 to 1978. Some of the tables include figures for the early months of 1979. Current data for many of the series appearing in the Abstract are contained in Economic Trends, the Monthly Digest of Statistics and in Financial Statistics, prepared by the Central Statistical Office and published monthly by Her Majesty's Stationery Office. Information on regional detail, supplementary to the national figures in this Abstract, is published in Regional Statistics also prepared by the Central Statistical Office and published annually by Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

Definitions

5. Area covered. Except where otherwise stated all statistics relate to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

6. Time series. So far as possible annual totals are given throughout, but quarterly or monthly figures are given where these are more suitable to the type of series. Except where it is stated to the contrary all statistics are for calendar years ended 31 December.

For some series, weekly data are collected and not figures for calendar years. In such cases the figures appearing in the columns for particular years are cumulative totals for 52 or 53 weeks and, where this is so, attention is drawn to the footnotes to the tables. Since the series have not been adjusted to make them equivalent to a calendar year, care must be taken in making comparisons between figures for periods of different numbers of weeks.

7. Explanatory notes. Several sections of the Abstract are preceded by pages of explanatory notes which should be read in conjunction with the tables. Additional notes appear before Chapters 8, 11, 15 and 18. Definitions of many of the terms occurring in both the Abstract and the Monthly Digest of Statistics are given in detail in the Supplement of Definitions and Explanatory Notes to the Monthly Digest of Statistics, published annually by Her Majesty's Stationery Office. Detailed notes on items which appear in both the Abstract and Financial Statistics are given in a Supplement to the latter entitled Financial Statistics:

Explanatory handbook, first published in October 1977. The original sources listed in the Index of Sources may also be consulted.

8. Consumption and stocks. Statistics of consumption and stocks should be used with care. The terms 'consumption', 'disposals' and 'stocks' are normally defined in detail in the Supplement to the Monthly Digest of Statistics. The stocks figures given may often relate to only part of the total stocks in the country.

Revisions and changes in content

9. Revisions. The scope of the Abstract is revised from time to time to include new statistical information as it becomes available. Some of the figures in this Abstract are regarded as provisional only and may be revised subsequently. This applies particularly to the latest year shown.

10. Numbering. Tables were re-numbered within sections from the 1977 issue and a reconciliation of the new table numbering with the old was shown.

11. Chapter 5. Education. This chapter has been completely recast on a United Kingdom basis and a full list of the tables is given in the Contents pages.

12. New tables. In addition to those in Chapter 5 (Education) the following new tables have been introduced into this issue of the Abstract:

II. Population and Vital Statistics

This section begins with a summary of population figures for the United Kingdom and constituent countries from 1851 to 2011 (Table 2.1), Table 2.2 analyses the elements of population change. Tables 2.3–2.7 give details of the national sex/age structure for years up to the present date. The marital condition of the population is given in Tables 2.8, 2.9. Table 2.10 gives projections of the population by sex/age up to the year 2011. The distribution of population at local and regional level is summarised in Tables 2.11 and 2.12.

In the main, historical series relate to Census information while mid-year estimates are given for the recent past and present.

Population (Tables 2.1–2.7). Figures shown relate either to the population enumerated at successive censuses or to the annual mid-year estimates. Mid-year estimates are constructed from the latest full Census, with allowance for births, deaths, migration into and out of the area and variation in the disposition of armed forces since the Census was taken. These estimates are given on two bases, Home and Total population.

Home population: Persons actually present in an area.

Total population: The Home population plus the estimated numbers of HM Forces ordinarily resident in the area who are serving overseas or in another part of the United Kingdom (but excluding both Commonwealth and foreign armed forces, and HM Forces present but not ordinarily resident in the area).

The Census figures of home population differ from the mid-year estimates of home population both in timing and because of slight variations in definition.

In the light of results from the 1971 Census, some of the population estimates for England and Wales over the period 1962 to 1970 have been revised. Where possible the revised estimates based on the final results of the 1971 Census are shown and if appropriate, revised estimates have been used as a base for birth, marriage, etc., rates. An explanation of the figures used in any particular table is given in the relevant footnotes.

Projected Total population of the United Kingdom and constituent countries (Table 2.10). These projections are prepared by the Government Actuary, in consultation with the three Registrars General, as a common framework for use in national planning in a number of different fields. A single principal projection for the next 40 years is made each year on a set of assumptions which seems most appropriate on the basis of the statistical evidence available at the time. The projection is not however to be regarded as a 'forecast' in the normal sense of the word as population cannot be predicted over a forty-year period, and this is emphasized by the production every few years of supplementary projections made on assumptions differing from those of the principal projection.

The projections in Table 2.10 have been made on the following assumptions. Where appropriate differing assumptions have been made for the constituent countries of the United Kingdom and the averages of the assumed rates are quoted here.

Base population: As estimated for mid-1978 by the Registrars General.

Mortality: Death rates at the outset are based on recent experience. Over a period of 40 years the rates are assumed to decline on average by about 10 per cent, although the improvement assumed for males and females, and at the different ages, varies considerably. Little or no improvement is assumed in the mortality rates in the middle years of life; at other ages rates are assumed to decline by up to 25 per cent, or 35 per cent for mortality in the first six months of life.

Births: The estimates assume 718,000 births in 1979, 733,000 in 1980 and 758,000 in 1981, with a gradual increase of both births and fertility rates until 1988. From that year on it is assumed that fertility rates will be at a level at which the population will approximately reproduce itself in successive generations, each woman on average producing 2.12 live born children. Births would then fluctuate in line with the numbers of young women, reaching a peak of 911,000 in 1990 then falling to 762,000 in 2004 and rising again to 872,000 in 2018, the last year of the projection. A constant sex ratio of 106 boys to 100 girls has been assumed.

Migration: Allowance has been made for net outward migration of 31,000 in 1979, rising gradually to reach 40,000 a year from 1984 onwards.

Divorce (Table 2.22). Figures relate to dissolutions and annulments. Scottish figures relate only to marriages which took place in Scotland.

Births (Table 2.24). For Scotland and Northern Ireland the number of births throughout are those registered. For England and Wales the figures up to and including 1930–32 are for those registered and later figures shown are for those occurring in each year.

Life tables (Table 2.33). The life tables for 1950–52, 1960–62 and 1970–72 are based on the population at the 1951, 1961 and 1971 Censuses respectively and the average number of deaths registered in the three years 1950–52, 1960–62 and 1970–72. The abridged life tables are constructed from the estimated Home population in the three years covered and the total deaths registered in those years.

Deaths (Tables 2.29–2.32). The figures relate to the number of deaths registered during the calendar year, the normal time lag between occurrence and registration being a matter of days only.

[1] Figures for Northern Ireland are estimated. The population at the census of 1926 was 1,257 thousand (608 thousand males and 649 thousand females). [2] Except for Northern Ireland, where a full census was taken, figures are based on the 10 per cent sample census. [3] The figures for 1962 and later years are revised estimates based on the final results of the 1971 census.

[2] Including deaths of non-civilians and merchant seamen who died outside the country. These numbered 577,000 in 1911–1921 and 240,000 in 1931–1951 for England and Wales; 74,000 in 1911–1921 and 34,000 in 1931–1951 for Scotland; and 10,000 in 1911–1926 for Northern Ireland. [3] For England and Wales, changes in Armed Forces, in visitor balance and other adjustments. For Scotland, this is an adjustment for changes in the number of Armed Forces overseas.

[1] The aliens subject to the police registration requirements of the Immigration Act 1971 are, in general, those who are in the United Kingdom for more than a short visit but are not permanent residents here. They include work-permit holders, students, au pairs, and some businessmen and long-term visitors. Short-term visitors are not required to register and nor are aliens who are permitted to stay in the country indefinitely. The registration requirements do not apply to children under 16; members of diplomatic and consular services of foreign governments; certain officials of international organisations; and members of NATO forces on duty in the United Kingdom. [2] Citizens of Pakistan were treated as aliens from 1 September 1973.

[1]The figures refer to women married in the calendar years shown from 1930 onwards. Mean family size is the average number of liveborn children born to these women by the time they reached the marriage durations shown. The figures take account of births up to those of 1972. Thus, the figure of 1.66 shown at duration 10 years against 1940 is the average number of liveborn children by their tenth wedding anniversary to women who married at ages under 45 for the first time in 1940.

[1] The column headed q<sub>x</sub> is the probability that a person aged x would die within one year. Column l<sub>x</sub> shows the numbers who would survive to exact age x out of 100,000 or 10,000 born who were subject throughout their lives to the death probabilities of column q<sub>x</sub>. Column o<sub>e<sub>x</sub></sub> is 'the expectation of life', that is, the average future lifetime which would be lived by a person aged exactly x if likewise subject to the death probabilities of column q<sub>x</sub>. # III. Social Conditions

Government expenditure on social services and housing

The following tables of general government expenditure on the social services and housing in the United Kingdom comprise a summary table followed by separate tables for each of the social services and housing. The definition of government expenditure used in these tables follows that in Table 9.4 of National Income and Expenditure 1979 Edition (the Blue Book), and covers both current and capital expenditure of the central government (including the National Insurance Fund) and local authorities. The housing table also includes the capital expenditure of public corporations concerned with housing. As in the Blue Book government expenditure is measured after deducting fees and charges for services. Expenditure on administration includes the cost of common services (accommodation, stationery and printing, superannuation, etc.) which is not directly borne by the departments administering each service. Transfers from one part of government to another have been eliminated to avoid double counting. The figures relate to years ended 31 March. Figures for the latest two years are the most recent estimates available and are subject to revision.

It should be noted that the figures no longer include imputed rents for the use of fixed assets owned and used by general government. In the Blue Book imputed rents have been replaced by capital consumption. Capital consumption, however, cannot be allocated to individual services and is therefore not included in these tables.

The following notes give brief descriptions of each of the main services shown in the tables.

Education

This covers expenditure by the Education Departments, local education authorities and the University Grants Committee on education in schools, training colleges, technical institutions and universities.

National health service

This covers expenditure by central government on hospital and community health, family practitioner and other health services. The expenditure by local authorities on the provision of health centres, health visiting, home nursing, ambulance services, vaccination and immunisation, etc., was transferred to central government on 1 April 1974. Only the net costs of providing these services are included in total government expenditure, receipts from patients being shown separately.

Personal social services

This covers local authority expenditure on the aged, handicapped and homeless; child care; care of mothers and young children; mental health; domestic help; etc. Also included are central government grants to voluntary approved schools. Figures before 1969/70 relate to the former services of child care and welfare services only.

School meals, milk and welfare foods

This covers the cost of providing school meals, milk and welfare foods at reduced prices to children and expectant mothers. Only the net costs of providing these services are included in the total government expenditure, payments by the recipients of the services being shown separately. Local authority capital expenditure on school canteens is included with Education.

Social security benefits

This is entirely central government expenditure and comprises both benefits under the national insurance schemes and non-contributory benefits and allowances, administered by the Department of Health and Social Security. The analysis by type of supplementary benefit is not exact; the estimates are derived from average numbers in receipt of benefit and average amounts paid.

Housing

The table shows, in addition to government expenditure on housing, the capital expenditure of public corporations and the total expenditure of the public sector on housing. The government expenditure figures cover subsidies paid by the Housing Departments towards the provision of housing by local authorities, new town development corporations and housing associations; subsidies by local authorities to their housing revenue accounts; rent rebates for tenants of housing owned by local authorities and new towns; rent allowances for tenants of privately-owned housing; grants to persons for the reduction of mortgage interest payments; capital expenditure on the provision of houses for letting; capital grants to housing associations; grants by local authorities towards the cost of conversion and improvement of privately-owned houses; net lending by the central government and local authorities for private house purchase and improvement. The public corporations' figures cover capital expenditure on the provision of houses for letting and lending by the Housing Corporation to housing associations.

Social Security

Tables 3.12 to 3.17 and 3.22 to 3.30 give details of contributors and beneficiaries under the National Insurance and Industrial Injury Acts, supplementary benefits and war pensions.

There are three classes of contributor:

- Class 1* Employed persons, that is, persons working for employers. Their contributions are paid partly by themselves and partly by their employers. They are covered for all benefits.
- Class 2* Self-employed persons, that is, persons working on their own account. They are covered for all benefits other than unemployment and industrial injuries.
- Class 3* Non-employed persons, that is, persons who do not work for gain. They are covered for benefits other than unemployment, sickness, industrial injuries and maternity allowances.
- Class 4* Payable, in addition to Class 2 by self-employed persons, and the amount payable is proportionate to profits or gains in any one year.

SOCIAL SERVICES

An employer must pay a contribution for every employee whose earnings exceed a base level. Most employed persons pay the full employee's contribution, but retirement pensioners working for an employer do not and some married women and some widows who are working need not, unless they so wish, contribute except for industrial injuries benefit. Thus the total numbers in the analysis by benefit for which the contributions were payable are less than the total numbers in the analysis by class of contributor.

Sickness benefit (Tables 3.18 to 3.21)

The population at risk for sickness benefit is the working population apart from men over age 65 and women over age 60 who are retirement pensioners and all men over 70 and women over 65, members of the Armed Forces, mariners while at sea, most non-industrial civil servants and Post Office employees (who do not normally claim sickness benefit until an illness has lasted six months) and married women and certain widows who have chosen not to be insured for sickness benefit (about three-quarters of all married women in employment have chosen not to pay flat-rate contributions).

[1] From 7 April 1975 the lower rate of unemployment benefit and of sickness benefit has been discontinued and persons under the age of 18 are entitled to the appropriate adult rate. [2] The maternity allowance was originally paid to working mothers for 13 weeks. In October 1953 the period of payment was increased to 18 weeks subject to satisfying a contribution test. A maternity grant (originally £4 and subsequently increased in steps to £25) is payable through a woman's own insurance or that of her husband. [3] Death grant is not payable in respect of the death of a person who on 4 July 1948 was aged 65 or over (man). [4] Changes in rates of benefit became operative from 29 March in 1965. [5] An allowance for one adult dependant is payable, where appropriate, with unemployment benefit, sickness benefit, retirement pension, injury benefit, certain disablement pensions and, since 1953, maternity allowance. Allowances for dependent children are payable with any of these benefits. The rates of increases of benefit for the children of widowed mothers are at higher rates than those for the children of other beneficiaries. Changes in these increases take effect from the same date as the main benefit. [6] The rate of family allowance for the fourth and each subsequent child in a family was temporarily increased by 25p a week between October 1967 and April 1968, the appropriate rates of increase of benefit for dependent children being correspondingly reduced by 25p a week. [7] Family allowances, for each qualifying child in the family except the first, were introduced in August 1946. Until August 1956 the allowance continued while the child was at school or an apprentice, but not beyond 31 July following his 16th birthday. The upper limit was raised to the 18th birthday from August 1956 and to the 19th birthday from March 1964. [8] From July 1975 the maximum award payable was £7.00 for families with one child increasing by 50p for each additional child; from July 1976 it was £8.50 for a one child family plus 50p for each additional child. [9] From October 1973 the long-term addition has been incorporated in the long-term rate: persons aged 80 years and over are entitled to a further 25p. [10] Supplementary pension is paid to people over age 65 (men) or 60 (women). Supplementary allowance is paid to people below those ages. [11] Scale rates for requirement other than for rent, which is allowed for in addition. There is in addition a special scale rate for persons aged 16 years and over who are registered blind or whose wife is registered blind. [12] Including couples as man and wife. [13] Including any single person who is directly responsible for rent. [14] Child benefit replaced family allowance from 5 April 1977.

[1] Ordinary contributions shown for employed adults are flat-rate contributions payable in the case of persons not contracted out of the graduated pensions scheme.

Contracted out contributions are payable in the case of employed persons with equivalent pension rights from employers' superannuation schemes who have been contracted out of the graduated pension scheme.

As from 5 October 1966 a graduated contribution at the not contracted out rate of 4.75% of earnings between £9 and £18 and 0.5% of earnings between £18 and £30; and at the contracted out rate of 0.5% of earnings between £9 and £30, was payable by both employer and employee. This increase was to meet the cost of earnings-related supplement benefits under the National Insurance Act, 1966. As from 3 November 1969 the rate of graduated contributions payable was further increased on earnings between £18 and £30 to 3.25%, under the National Insurance Act 1969. As from 21 September 1971 the rate of graduated contributions payable was increased on earnings between £18 and £42 to 4.35% under the National Insurance Act 1971. As from 2 October 1972 the not contracted out rate of 4.75% was extended to earnings between £18 and £48; and the contracted out rate on earnings between £18 and £48 was also increased to 4.75%, under the National Insurance Act 1972. As from 1 October 1973, graduated contributions were payable at the not contracted out rate of 5% of earnings between £9 and £54; and at the contracted out rate of 0.75% on earnings between £9 and £18; and 5% on earnings between £18 and £54, under the National Insurance Act 1973.

[2] Contributions included in total above. [3] Juveniles under 18 who have left school. [4] As from 6 April 1975 contributions are based on earnings. See Table 3.15 for the rates of contribution from 6 April 1975.

[1] Figures are based on a 5 per cent sample except those for May 1976 which are based on a 4 per cent sample. [2] Because of industrial action at local offices of the Employment Services Agency the figures for November 1976 are not available. [3] Prior to November 1978 figures for non-recipients of benefit include non-claimants; from November 1978 only claimants for benefit or credits are included.

[1] This is an especially high rate of benefit which is payable for the first 26 weeks of widowhood, provided that the widow is under pensionable age (age 60) or, if she is over that age, provided that her husband was not entitled to retirement pension. [2] From 1975 figures for widow's basic pension are included as Age-related widow's pension. [3] Estimated.

[1] Because of industrial action in some unemployment benefit offices at the time of the supplementary benefit annual statistical enquiry, in December 1976, it was not possible to obtain the usual information on unemployed claimants. As a result 1976 figures for unemployed cases, total supplementary allowance and total supplementary benefit cases are estimated. [2] From 1975 the figures relate to one-parent families headed by a man also. [3] From 1976 claimants with Non-Contributory Invalidity Pensions are included with claimants in receipt of national insurance sickness benefit.

[1] Including acute polioencephalitis. [2] The figures show the corrected number of notifications, incorporating revisions of diagnosis, either by the notifying medical practitioner or by the medical superintendent of the infectious diseases hospital. Cases notified in Port Health Districts are excluded. [3] Formal notifications of new cases only. [4] Prior to 1 October 1968, the notifiable disease was meningococcal infection. [5] Acute primary and acute influenza. Ceased to be notifiable from 1975. [6] Revised figures from 1974, figures include cases of tuberculosis not notified before death. Prior to 1974 recording practice may or may not have included such cases, as notifications. [7] Up to end-June 1968, only the first case in a household had to be notified, unless a period of three months intervened. All cases notified from 1 July, 1968. [8] Figures for England and Wales are provisional. [9] Great Britain figures only in 1978.

[1] The 1971 Census definition of a dwelling differs from that used in 1961 and 1966 Censuses and as a result some care is required in comparing the 1971 statistics with previous series. In the 1971 Census, household spaces were grouped into dwellings according to the extent that accommodation was shared between households. A full description of the 1971 definition and differences from earlier definitions is contained in 1971 Census, Great Britain, County Reports, General Explanatory Notes.

[1] A 'private household' comprises any person living alone who is responsible for providing his or her own meals or a group of persons living together, partaking of meals prepared together and benefiting from a common housekeeping. [2] A 'family' is a married couple, alone, or with never-married child or children (of any age). A family may also be a lone parent with his/her never-married child or children. [3] Children, in this table, are dependent children and are defined as children in a family under the age of 15, or in full-time education under the age of 25. For further definition of terms, see 1971 Census, Great Britain, County Reports, General Explanatory Notes.

[1] The figures exclude suspended licences and represent premises open for the sale of intoxicating liquor. [2] Excluding provisional grants. [3] Owing to the reorganisation of local government boundaries on 1 April 1974, data for these items was not collected in 1974. [4] In 1974, the figures do not include returns from the Airdrie and Hamilton districts of the county of Lanark. [5] The figures for Scotland for 1975 are based on returns from the new licensing courts set up on 15 May 1975, and do not in all cases include licences applied for and granted prior to that date. [6] Following the coming into operation of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 1976 partial licences are no longer granted. [7] Following the coming into operation of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 1976 there were also 2,330 applications granted for Sunday opening of public houses. [8] Following the coming into operation of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 1976 statistics are provided of the number of entertainment and refreshment licences which were granted. [9] Following the coming into operation of the Licensing (Scotland) Act 1976 the number of applications for renewals are no longer shown. [10] Number of applications (including renewals) granted during the year. From 1970 includes clubs registered under the Gaming Act 1968.

IV. Justice and Crime

There are differences in the legal and judicial systems of England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland which make it impossible to provide tables covering the United Kingdom as a whole in this section. These differences concern the classification of offences, the meaning of certain terms used in the statistics and the effects of the several Criminal Justice Acts.

Until 1969 a table comparing the criminal statistics of England and Wales and Scotland was included each year in the Annual Abstract. This comparison has always been regarded as somewhat hazardous because of the differences already referred to, particularly in the police systems and court procedures. From 1969, any such comparison has been almost totally invalidated as a result of the Theft Act 1968, which came into force for England and Wales on 1 January 1969. The Theft Act re-defined theft and incorporated virtually all offences of dishonesty coming within the definitions of the previous offences of larceny, breaking and entering, robbery, embezzlement and fraudulent conversion. In addition to re-defining existing indictable offences, the Act increased the number of indictable offences by the inclusion of 'taking of a motor vehicle without authority' and certain offences of stealing.

Court proceedings

The statistical basis of the tables of court proceedings is broadly similar in Scotland and in England and Wales; the tables show the number of persons found guilty, recording a person under the heading of the principal offence of which he is found guilty, excluding additional findings of guilt at the same proceedings. A person found guilty at a number of separate court proceedings is included more than once.

Part III of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968 came into effect on 15 April 1971 and had a major impact on criminal statistics. The Act makes provision for consequential measures other than criminal proceedings where the alleged offender is a child. There is no direct effect on crimes and offences 'known to the police' or on cases 'cleared up'. However, after the introduction of the new provisions only a minority of children have been prosecuted.

[1] Those committed for sentence in the years 1969 to 1974 include some convicted of non-indictable offences. Some people (having been convicted of more than one offence) may appear both among those found guilty and among those sentenced after committal. [2] On 1 January 1972, assizes and quarter sessions were replaced by the Crown Court. [3] On 14 October 1971, as a result of the Criminal Damage Act, 1971, most non-indictable offences of malicious damage became indictable offences of criminal damage. [4] Includes Community Service Orders introduced in 1973 up to 1977.

[1] In 1974 the basis for accounting for expenditure on prisons changed, with the result that a comparable analysis cannot be given for the financial year 1974/75. To facilitate some comparison, the analyses for the years 1971/72, 1972/73 and 1973/74 given below have been reworked to correspond with the analysis for 1974/75. In 1974 it was decided that an amount would be included for Home Office administration; figures for previous years are not available.

V. Education

In general the education services of the United Kingdom are not subject to detailed central control. Standards are maintained by an Inspectorate with advisory functions having access to all institutions except the universities and related bodies. Within this framework detailed control is exercised by local education authorities or by various forms of independent governing bodies, in association with the teaching staff. In all sectors, such matters as engaging teachers and selection of textbooks and curricula are part of these detailed local responsibilities.

There are four government departments dealing with education whose responsibilities in the years to which the statistics in this section relate were:

Department of Education and Science:

which deals with all sectors of education in England, all sectors in Wales other than schools and with the Government's responsibilities towards universities in Great Britain.

Welsh Office:

whose Welsh Education Office deals with schools in Wales.

Scottish Education Department:

schools and further education in Scotland.

Department of Education, Northern Ireland:

schools, further education and universities in Northern Ireland.

The University Grants Committee advises the education departments in Great Britain and in Northern Ireland on the needs of the universities and is concerned with plans for their development.

Statistics for the separate systems obtaining in England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland are collected and processed separately in accordance with the particular needs of the responsible Departments and, particularly where there are structural differences, the assembly of statistics covering the United Kingdom as a single unit presents considerable problems and in some fields is impossible at present.

Stages of education

There are three stages of education: primary (including nursery), secondary, and further (including higher) education. The first two stages are compulsory for all children between the ages of five and sixteen years (fifteen before 1972/73); and the transition from primary to secondary education is usually made between ten and a half and twelve years. The third stage of education is voluntary and includes all education provided after full-time schooling ends.

Primary education

Primary education includes three age ranges: nursery, under five years of age; infant, five to seven or eight years; and junior, seven or eight to eleven or twelve years. The great majority of public sector primary schools take both boys and girls in mixed classes. In Scotland the distinction between infant and primary schools is generally not made.

Middle schools

In England and Wales middle schools take children from first schools and generally lead on, in turn, to comprehensive upper schools. They cover varying age ranges between eight and fourteen. Depending on their individual age range they are deemed either primary or secondary by Order of the Secretary of State for Education and Science or (for age range nine to thirteen) by choice of the Local Education Authority. Scotland has only two middle schools.

Secondary education

Provision of secondary education in an area may include any combination of types of schools. The pattern is a reflection of historical circumstance and of the policy adopted by the local education authority. There is a growing trend to comprehensive schools, on a variety of patterns as to forms of organisation and the age range of the pupils attending. In their 'pure' form, comprehensive schools admit pupils without reference to ability and aptitude, and cater for all the children in a neighbourhood; but many co-exist with selective schools for pupils of the highest academic attainment and thus under-represent the ablest sector of the age group. The number of technical schools is small and decreasing. Scotland has some schools which are part comprehensive/part selective; these are comprehensive in intake but selective as regards level of courses offered (typically not beyond 'O' grade).

Special schools, either day or boarding, provide education exclusively for children who are so seriously handicapped, physically or mentally, that they cannot profit fully from education in normal schools.

Further education

The term 'further education' may be used in a general sense to cover all education after the period of compulsory education. More commonly it excludes those staying on at secondary school, and those studying at universities, or at colleges of education (teacher training) in Scotland and Northern Ireland. Following reorganisation of teacher training in England and Wales from 1975 the former colleges of education have been included with other further education establishments in England and Wales.

Higher education

The term 'higher education' includes all students in universities, and in colleges of education in Scotland and Northern Ireland, together with students in further education colleges on courses leading to advanced level qualifications, i.e. qualifications above General Certificate of Education 'A' levels, Scottish Certificate of Education 'H' grade, and Ordinary National Diploma or Ordinary National Certificate. This will include all teacher training courses.

[1] In Scotland with effect from the 1974/75 session the school census date was advanced to September whereas that for the rest of the United Kingdom remains at January. References to 1975 onwards reflect Scottish figures at the previous September (the same academic session). [2] The minimum school leaving age was raised to 16 on 1 September 1972. The figures for 1974 were the first to reflect this change. [3] For the years 1962 to 1973 no separate figures were available for all the individual countries. [4] Each part-time pupil (aged 2-4, but also small numbers aged 5 in Scotland attending nursery schools) has been counted as one. [5] The Registrars General estimates of total population have sometimes been slightly below the number of children found to have attended school. [6] As a percentage of the 18 years age-group.

References to 1975 onwards reflect Scottish figures at the previous September (the same academic session). These schools were conducted in association with institutions of further education; the last of them closed in June 1974.

[1] In Scotland with effect from the 1974/75 session the school census date was advanced to September whereas that for the rest of the United Kingdom remains at January. References to 1975 onwards reflect Scottish figures at the previous September (the same academic session). [2] England, Wales and Northern Ireland only. [3] In 1975 a change was made in the method of recording the major handicap of pupils attending Educationally Sub-normal (Severe) special schools in England and Wales and for the first time a number of them (6,908) were returned within a category other than 'educationally sub-normal'. [4] England and Wales only. [5] In Scotland before 1967 figures for teachers are for the autumn of each year.

[1] 1972/73 is omitted due to distortions resulting from raising of the school leaving age. [2] 'O' grades in Scotland (from 1973) and 'O' levels in England, Wales and Northern Ireland (from 1975) have been awarded in bands A to E; awards in bands A—C can be regarded as equivalent to what were previously rated as passes. [3] It should be noted that the raising of the school leaving age in 1972/73 affected the numbers of pupils taking C.S.E. and GCE/SCE examinations. [4] CSE grades 2—5 in England and Wales. [5] The numbers of pupils who left school in Great Britain with no GCE/SCE or CSE qualifications were as follows:

[1] Based on 13 year old school age-groups of the appropriate number of years previously. [2] Further education as at Autumn of the academic year; schools as at January. From 1974/75 the school figures for Scotland are linked to a September census and the percentages are therefore not strictly comparable with earlier years. [3] Based on 14 year old school age-groups of the appropriate number of years previously, but on 13 year olds for Scotland. [4] Including pupils aged over 18. [5] Pupils are released from school before the statutory leaving age to attend courses of further education. [6] For the year 1971/72 the numbers of non-advanced further education students include a small number of students on advanced courses.

[1] The comparison of data between 1971/72 and 1974/75 and subsequent years is affected by the raising of the school leaving age from 15 to 16 years in 1972/73. [2] The Registrars General estimates of total population have sometimes been slightly below the number of children recorded in schools.

[1] Estimates of the total working population and its components were obtained by the method described on page 203 of the Department of Employment Gazette, March 1975. [2] From 1971 the employees in employment estimates are based on an annual census of employment taken in June each year, which excludes private domestic servants and civil servants temporarily stationed outside the United Kingdom. For the years before 1971, estimates of employees in employment are taken from the continuous employment series which was published in the October 1975 issue of the Department of Employment Gazette. This continuous series made allowances for the discontinuities which were present in the previously published series. [3] Estimates for Great Britain are assumed unchanged after 1975 until later data become available. [4] Employment estimates after June 1976 are provisional.

[1] Estimates of the total working population and its components were obtained by the method described on page 203 of the Department of Employment Gazette, March 1975. [2] Estimates are assumed unchanged after 1975 until later data become available. [3] From 1971 the employees in employment estimates are based on an annual census of employment taken in June each year, which excludes private domestic servants and civil servants temporarily stationed outside the United Kingdom. For the years before 1971, estimates of employees in employment are taken from the continuous employment series which was published in the March 1975 issue of the Department of Employment Gazette. This continuous series removed the discontinuities which were present in the previously published series. [4] Employment estimates after June 1976 are provisional.

[1] The figures are from censuses of employment conducted in Great Britain by the Department of Employment, and for the United Kingdom include information from similar censuses conducted in Northern Ireland by the Department of Manpower Services. [2] Based on quarterly estimates projected from the June 1976 census of employment. [3] Private domestic servants are excluded. [4] The figures for agriculture are taken from the June censuses of agriculture. They exclude a small number of employees of agricultural machinery contractors but include seasonal and temporary workers. Family workers are included in the figures for Great Britain but not for Northern Ireland. [5] The 1975 United Kingdom figure for Chalk, clay, sand, and gravel extraction is included with Other mining and quarrying.

[1] Following the use from 1975 of a new sample of employers, estimates are related to all employees in the industries covered by the survey and not just to those in establishments with 11 or more workers as previously. Further information, together with details of changes affecting comparability with surveys earlier than 1973, is given in an article on pages 470 to 477 of the Employment Gazette, May 1979 which also includes tables listing the occupations included in the broad categories above. [2] Except works and other senior foremen, who are included in the preceding column. [3] Included in the preceding columns. [4] Shipbuilding and ship repairing, which was included up to 1975 has now been omitted.

[1] The figures include established and unestablished non-industrial and industrial staff but exclude casual or seasonal staff (recruited for periods of normally less than six months) and employees of the Northern Ireland Government. Two part-time employees are counted as one whole-time employee. [2] The figures prior to 1972 have been adjusted to show staff in current ministerial areas so that the figures in all columns are on a comparable basis. [3] From 1972 the figures exclude certain staff not employed by government departments but deemed to be civil servants for superannuation purposes, the staff of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration, the Exchequer and Audit Department and certain judicial officers.

[1] Figures exclude schoolchildren, farmers, partners and directors and their wives. [2] Number of workers returned at June 1970 onwards are not directly comparable with those for previous years because of changes in the census in the coverage of labour in England and Wales. [3] Up to 1974 includes workers returned as Seasonal or casual in Northern Ireland. [4] Great Britain only up to 1974 (see footnote [3]). [5] Great Britain only. [6] Figures for the years 1970 to 1972 include Seasonal or casual workers in Scotland. [7] Includes some estimated figures for Scotland.

[1] Numbers unemployed expressed as a percentage of the estimated total number of employees. See also footnotes to Table 6.3. [2] Because of industrial action at local offices of the Employment Service Agency the count of unemployed in October and November 1974 included some estimates. Information for West Midlands region is not available for these months. In December 1974 no count was made. The percentages for 1974 are based on averages of eleven months, (except for West Midlands where no averages have been calculated). [3] The averages for 1976 are based on twelve months for Northern Ireland, eleven months for the United Kingdom and Great Britain and ten months for Scotland, Wales and the English regions.

[1] The figures represent only the numbers of vacancies notified to employment offices and careers offices by employers and remaining unfilled on the day of the count. It is estimated from a survey carried out in April-June 1977 that vacancies notified to employment offices are about one-third of all vacancies in the country as a whole. From April 1974 the vacancies notified to employment offices include some that are suitable for young persons and those notified to careers offices include some that are suitable for adults. To avoid possible duplication the two series should not be added together. Following the introduction of the Sex Discrimination Act, vacancies are not recorded separately for males and females. [2] Because of industrial action by some staff in the Department of Employment group, figures for December 1974, January 1975, November and December 1976, and January 1977 are not available. The figures for October and November 1974 include estimates.

[1] In February 1972 and again in January, February and March 1974, the numbers of temporarily stopped were affected by the energy crises. Separate information for males and females was not collected in January, February and March 1974. Because of industrial action by some staff in the Department of Employment group, figures for October and November 1974 do not include West Midlands and no count was made in December 1974, January 1975, November and December 1976. [2] Averages are for eleven months. [3] In October 1975 the day of the count was changed from Monday to Thursday. [4] Averages are for ten months.

[1] Excluding stoppages involving fewer than 10 workers or lasting less than one day except any in which the aggregate number of working days lost exceeded 100. [2] Figures for 1968 and 1969 are based on the 1958 Standard Industrial Classification and those for 1970 onwards, on the 1968 edition. [3] Some stoppages involved workers in more than one industry group but have each been counted only once in the totals. [4] The figures for working days lost include days lost in subsequent years where the stoppages extended into the following calendar year. [5] This analysis shows the total working days lost within each year as a result of stoppages in progress in that year whether beginning in that or an earlier year.

[1] These figures differ from those given by the Department of Employment as they were calculated on a different basis: census figures include all who live and work in Great Britain or who work in Great Britain although usually resident in another country (including foreign and Commonwealth armed forces, except those on foreign naval vessels, and seamen). Department of Employment figures relate to the British working population including those who at the time of the census were working outside Great Britain (includes British forces and seamen abroad). Full-time students and school pupils who hold National Insurance cards, are classified in the census as economically inactive; they are included in the Department of Employment figures. Seasonal and irregular workers are classified as economically inactive in the census only if they are students, retired or are 'Other persons economically inactive'; they are included in the Department of Employment figures. People who were 'sick' at the time of the census are classified as 'out of employment, sick' but in Department of Employment figures are classified as employed. ## Notes

[ii] Where an asterisk is shown individual figures are suppressed for disclosure reasons; the suppressed figures are included in the totals.

[iii] Figures for units employing 10 or less persons are included; these should be regarded as best estimates only, since the reliability of the data source is particularly at risk in relation to small units, which are normally exempted from BSO inquiries.

Notes

[i] Because of the raising of the school leaving age in 1973, coverage of the 1974 and subsequent surveys was reduced.

[ii] From 1974 age has been measured in completed years at 1 January, not as previously at time of survey.

[iii] From 1975 the NES sample excludes employees who are not members of PAYE schemes or who joined such schemes shortly before the survey.

[1] The estimates given relate to employees for whom normal basic hours were reported and for whom total hours and hourly earnings could, therefore, be calculated. [2] Men aged 21 and over. [3] Women aged 18 and over.

[1] As industrial activity was severely disrupted by restricted electricity supplies, the monthly survey was not carried out in February and so figures cannot be calculated for that year. [2] Because of the coal mining dispute during February 1974 a reliable index for mining and quarrying cannot be calculated. The figure for the previous month has been used in the compilation of the index for All industries covered. [3] The figures reflect temporary reductions in earnings during January and February while three-day working and other restrictions were in operation.

Note: New monthly series of indices of average earnings of employees in Great Britain have been introduced based on average earnings in January 1976 = 100, as described in an explanatory article in the April 1976 issue of the Department of Employment Gazette. The latest available values of the principal new index, covering virtually the whole economy, are given in the table, together with corresponding indices for the various industry groups (Order groups of the Standard Industrial Classification). There are three sets of industry groups.

Type A: those for which the indices previously published in Table 6.23 have been rebased on January 1976, by scaling:

Type B: those for which indices were not available before 1976:

Type C: those for which indices were available before 1976 but with narrower coverage than those now available.

Notes

(i) From 1974, age has been measured in completed years at 1 January, not as previously at the time of the survey.

(ii) From 1975 the NES sample excludes employees who are not members of PAYE schemes or who joined such schemes shortly before the survey.

[1] Men are males aged 21 and over; women are females aged 18 and over. [2] Those whose pay for the survey pay period was not affected by absence. The figures refer to April in each year and are gross before deductions. Generally they exclude the value of incomes in kind, but include payments such as overtime, bonus and commission and shift, etc, premiums for the pay period. [3] Persons for whom normal basic hours were reported and for whom hourly earnings could therefore, be calculated.

[1] The statistics relate to all organisations of employees with head offices in the United Kingdom—including those of salaried and professional workers, as well as those of manual wage-earners—which are known to include among their functions that of negotiating with employers with the object of regulating the conditions of employment of their members. The figures of membership include the membership of branches in the Irish Republic and overseas (numbering about 106,000 in 1977) but wholly exclude the membership of unions whose headquarters are situated outside the United Kingdom. A small number of people who are members of more than one union are included more than once in the figures, but the effect on the aggregates is relatively insignificant. [2] From 1975 onwards the figures are confined to organisations which appear to satisfy the statutory definition of trade union section 28 of the Trade Union and Labour Relations Act 1974. This has had the effect of excluding 31 organisations which were previously regarded by the Department as trade unions e.g. organisations representing members of the police service which are specifically excluded from the statutory definition by section 30 of the 1974 Act. [3] The subdivision of the total membership into males and females is partly estimated, as some trade unions are unable to state precisely the numbers of males and females in their total membership.

VII. Defence

This section includes figures on Defence expenditure, on the size and role of the Armed Forces and on related support activities.

Finance (Tables 7.1 – 7.3). Table 7.1 brings together information given in the public sector tables in National Income and Expenditure Blue Book. Table 7.2 is derived from the annual Appropriation Accounts and Table 7.3 from the forward projections of Defence spending as contained in the annual Supply Estimates. Forward estimates are largely based on prices ruling at the mid-point of the previous financial year. Expenditure covered by the Royal Ordnance Factories Trading Fund is excluded from 1975/76.

Formation of the Armed Forces (Table 7.4). This table shows the number of units which comprise the 'teeth' elements of the Armed Forces and excludes supporting units. The number of personnel and the amount of equipment in each vessel, regiment, battalion and squadron varies according to the role currently assigned. Greater detail for the current year is given in the Statement on the Defence Estimates 1979 (Cmnd 7474) (HMSO March 1979).

Personnel (Tables 7.5 – 7.7). The Regular Forces consist entirely of volunteer male and female members on a whole-time basis. The figures for females include personnel of the Women's and the Nursing Services. Certain professionally qualified female officers are commissioned in the appropriate branch or corps (i.e. medical, dental, legal, veterinary) and therefore do not appear in the 'female' figures. There were 55 such officers on 1 April 1979.

Locally Entered Personnel are recruited outside the United Kingdom for whole-time service in special formations with special conditions of service and normally restricted locations. The Brigade of Gurkhas is an example.

The Regular Forces are supported by Reserves and Auxiliary Forces. There are both regular and volunteer Reserves. Regular Reserves consist of former Service personnel with a Reserve liability. The Army General Reserve which consisted mainly of former National Servicemen, ceased to exist on 30 June 1974 when the relevant legislation expired. Volunteer Reserves are open to both former Service personnel and civilians. The call out liabilities of the various reserve forces differ in accordance with their roles. The Ulster Defence Regiment was instituted on 1 January 1970. All three Services run cadet forces for young people and the Combined Cadet Force, which is found in certain schools where education is continued to the age of 17 or above, may operate sections for any or all of the Services.

The responsibilities of the Ministry of Defence have not remained constant over the period of the tables and consequently there have been a number of transfers of staff between the Ministry of Defence and other bodies and Departments. One notable transfer of staff into the Ministry of Defence was from the Ministry of Aviation Supply in 1971. Table 7.5 shows only the staff within the Ministry of Defence as constituted at each date shown.

Some civilians from the United Kingdom serve tours of duty overseas. There were 6,371 such civilians serving abroad on 1 April 1979, other civilian staff are engaged overseas to work locally as circumstances demand. Additionally there were on 1 April 1979 approximately 26,000 staff of the Department of the Environment directly engaged on the Defence programme.

Health (Tables 7.8 – 7.9). The Services operate a number of hospitals in this country and in areas abroad where there is a significant British military presence. These hospitals take as patients members of all three Services and their dependants; in addition the hospitals in the United Kingdom take civilian patients under arrangements agreed with the National Health Service. Medical support is also supplied by Service medical staff at individual units, ships and stations.

Sickness (Table 7.10). This table shows cases of sickness of UK Service personnel for certain selected diagnoses and is for all services combined. It should be noted that, whereas the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force content is for all cases of off-duty sickness lasting 2 days or more terminating in the year, that for the Army covers only those cases admitted to medical units (including hospitals). Sickness at Army unit level, at home or on leave, is not included.

Medical discharges (Table 7.11). This table gives the numbers of regular UK service personnel who are invalidated out of the Services before the completion of their engagement. It is for all services combined. There is sometimes a delay in collating the data on invalidings, so the latest figures are provisional only and liable to amendment.

Deaths (Table 7.12). This table presents information on the deaths of all Regular UK Service personnel on and off duty. Deaths by hostile action are defined as 'battle casualties and deaths resulting from violence attributable to terrorist activity in internal security situations'. There is sometimes a delay in the statistical reporting of deaths, especially those occurring overseas, and the latest figures are liable to be altered slightly. The classifications of deaths in recent years is also subject to revision as a result of, for example, a delayed inquest verdict.

Search and Rescue (Table 7.15). This table covers incidents in which Rescue Co-ordinating Centres (RCCs) in the UK co-ordinated search and rescue (SAR) action in which elements of the Armed Forces were involved. The table also includes urgent medical incidents in which the Forces SAR facilities gave assistance (e.g. inter-hospital transfers). In addition to SAR action co-ordinated by RCCs, all units of the Armed Forces provide assistance in appropriate circumstances as do the civilian rescue services and individuals. Central records of such occasional ad hoc assistance are not kept; consequently the details are not reflected in this table.

Service Married Accommodation (Table 7.16). Accommodation is provided for Service families in the United Kingdom and abroad, partly by building to approved standards and partly by renting accommodation. The Multiple Hirings in BAOR (British Army of the Rhine) and RAFG (Royal Air Force Germany) relate to accommodation built by private developers and leased by the Federal German Authorities on behalf of the British Forces. Small numbers of Multiple Hirings are held elsewhere and are included in the 'hirings' figures. Service married quarters are available to Ministry of Defence civilians serving abroad.

Qualifications (Table 7.17). The Services supply tuition, financial and other assistance to their personnel to enable them to obtain formal qualifications of use to them in their duties. Those given here are illustrative of the wide range involved.

University Cadetships are awarded to undergraduates before or during their degree courses. Medical Cadetships are usually awarded only in the final years of training. Service personnel are also sponsored at universities and a number of degree courses are run at Service educational establishments, for example Shrivenham.

In Service units and ships, education officers organise instruction for a range of GCE and other academic examinations. The Technician Education Council was set up in 1973 but the first programmes did not get underway until 1975. In addition, Service personnel may attend LEA and other external courses and will normally be eligible for financial assistance, but these instances are not recorded centrally and are excluded from this table.

Much of the training given to Service personnel results in the acquisition of skills valuable in later civilian life and in some cases formal qualifications are obtained. Heavy Goods Vehicle (HGV) driving licences are one example. Figures for the period from 1969 to February 1973 were affected by the practice of granting HGV driving licences without the necessity of passing a test to persons already holding ordinary driving licences which permitted them to drive such vehicles.

Land (Table 7.18). Alterations in the holdings of land have occurred when other Departments have merged with the Ministry of Defence. Nearly half the total of land owned or leased by the Ministry of Defence is used for grazing, other agricultural and other non-military purposes, and details are given in the table.

[2] In 1974/75 and 1975/76 research and development costs have been included where possible in the appropriate Combat Forces or Support programme. Total R and D in these years was £456 million and £554 million respectively. Meteorological R and D expenditure has been included together with meteorological services in Other support functions. [3] A negative figure denotes an excess of receipts over expenditure. [4] Original estimates, no analysis available for £55 million variation in revised estimates. [5] In 1978/79 and 1979/80 includes Anglo-German offset receipts. [6] 1979/80 figures at forecast outturn prices.

[1] A few of the figures for reserves and cadets were collected at irregular intervals and do not necessarily refer to 1 April; they are the latest figures available at that date. [2] Excluding female medical and dental officers. [3] The Army General Reserve ceased to exist on 30 June 1974 when the relevant legislation expired. [4] The Territorial and Army Volunteer Reserve was created out of the Territorial Army on 1 April 1967. [5] Combined Cadet Force cadets are included under the relevant service. [6] Including staff at Royal Ordnance Factories. During the period of the table, a number of other departments have merged with the Ministry of Defence, and figures for successive years are therefore not always comparable. Two part-time employees are counted as one whole-time employee. [7] Including UK-based civilians serving abroad.

[1] An analysis of Royal Navy incidents for 1971 is not available. [2] Since both the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force are involved in some incidents, the total may not be the sum of the incidents attended by the services separately. [3] More than one element of the Search and Rescue services may be called out to a reported incident. [4] Prior to 1977 these figures are estimated numbers of journeys based on the reported flying hours and the average flight length. [5] Figures for persons assisted relate only to number of persons who were actually removed (alive) from a hazard or who were assisted in an urgent medical incident.

Includes also land declared as surplus to Defence requirements; in 1979 about 21,000 acres were awaiting disposal by the Property Services Agency. From 1972 the figures include land taken over with the functions of the former Ministry of Aviation Supply.

VIII. Production

Censuses of Production (Table 8.1)

The Census of Production provides summary information about the structure of industry in the United Kingdom. The results meet a wide range of needs for government, economic analysts and the business community at large. In official statistics the censuses are an important source for the national accounts and input-output tables, but they also provide weights for use in compiling the indexes of production and wholesale prices. Census results also enable the United Kingdom to meet the statistical requirements of the European Economic Community.

In 1970 the earlier series of quinquennial censuses was replaced by a new system of production statistics. This took the form of a simplified annual census supplemented by a quarterly inquiry into manufacturing sales and an occasional purchases inquiry. During its early years the annual census covered in general all establishments with 25 or more employees, but this was reduced to 20 employees for the 1973 and subsequent censuses.

Annual census results are published in the Business Monitor series and appear as early provisional results followed by about 160 individual industry reports and a summary volume.

Index of industrial production (Table 8.2)

This index provides a general measure of changes in the volume of industrial production in the United Kingdom. Production industries comprise mining and quarrying, manufacturing, construction and the utilities (gas, electricity and water supply); but agriculture, distributive trades, transport and finance and all other public and private services are excluded. The index is prepared by the Central Statistical Office in collaboration with the statistics divisions of government departments and is published monthly approximately six weeks after the end of the month to which it applies. It is currently calculated with 1975 as the base year, with the volume of production in other periods expressed as a percentage of the average monthly production in 1975. Annual series from 1948 and quarterly series from 1952 were published in Economic Trends, No 307 May 1979 (HMSO). Monthly series are published in the Monthly Digest of Statistics (HMSO).

The index is a weighted arithmetic average of some 275 indicators, each representing the 'value added' by an individual industry or part of an industry as its contribution to total output of the United Kingdom. The weight given to each industry is proportional to its contribution to gross domestic product at factor cost in 1975; that is to say, the value the industry adds to its purchased materials, fuels and services. This is equal to the sum of income from employment plus profits after the deduction of stock appreciation.

The weights are derived from the Annual Census of Production for that year.

The gross output (that is, the total production) of an industry is the most frequently used proxy indicator for assessing change in value added, since the latter is difficult to measure in the short-term. In some cases the volume of production can be measured and such indicators make up about one-quarter of the index. About half of the index is derived from the volume of sales or deliveries or their value deflated by the relevant Wholesale Prices Indices. The remaining indicators measure work done.

The index of production with the National Accounts is rebased at approximately five-yearly intervals. Regular rebasing is required because the rate of growth in relative prices of net output of the various sectors may vary over time. In addition, the relative importance of each sector may change because of advances of technology, or variations in the pattern of demand for its goods. Index numbers for all years from 1973 were recalculated when the index was rebased on 1975 in Summer 1978; the index numbers from 1968 to 1973 (available on a 1970=100 basis) were linked to the later figures by a simple rescaling, using the ratio of the two sets of index numbers for 1973. An article describing the effect of rebasing appeared in Economic Trends No 307 May 1979.

Industrial classification

The industrial analysis of the index is in conformity with the Standard Industrial Classification Revised 1968 (HMSO) to which reference should be made for the details of the composition of each industrial group.

Market sector classification

These groupings combine the output of industries which meet broadly similar categories of demand: consumer goods, investment goods and intermediate goods (materials and fuels). Because the index measures the output of an industry and not of commodities each market sector group will include some output from the other sectors.

Implied level of output

Many of the indicators used to construct the index measure deliveries or sales rather than production which can result in the index numbers mis-stating the level of output because of changes in manufacturers' stock level. For years since 1970, index numbers have been calculated showing output adjusted for changes in such stocks. These index numbers provide the best available estimates of changes in output. They are available only for the major aggregates published in the tables.

[1] For years prior to 1958, excluding goods for merchandising and canteen supplies. For years prior to 1963, excluding the value of services rendered to other organisations. [2] Figures for gross output include a substantial amount of duplication represented by the total value of partly manufactured goods sold by one industrial establishment to another. The extent of duplication varies from one census industry to another. [3] The definition of net output used for 1973 onwards does not provide for the deduction of amounts payable to other organisations for transport of goods within the United Kingdom. The 1970 (below the line), 1971 and 1972 figures have been reworked on the new basis. [4] The figures include goods for merchandising and canteen supplies in 1958, 1963 and 1968. For 1973 onwards, these were excluded. [5] New and second-hand plant, machinery and vehicles and new building work (excluding site values and development charges). For 1963, 1968, and from 1970, expenditure on land and existing buildings is also included. Expenditure on new establishments which had not commenced production in the year is included in the figures from 1970, and also in the figures for the coal mining, gas and electricity industries in 1958, 1963 and 1968. [6] The figures include working proprietors but exclude outworkers. For the years 1958, 1963, 1968, and from 1970 onwards, the data includes persons engaged in merchandising or factoring and canteen workers, where particulars in respect of these activities cannot be excluded from the census return. [7] For the years 1970 to 1972, figures for petroleum and natural gas exploration are included. [8] The construction industry was not included in the Censuses for 1970, 1971, 1972 and 1973. [9] Great Britain only. From 1958 onwards, stocks of materials and work in progress are included for the coal mining industry. [10] Figures for stocks and work in progress exclude water undertakings and work in progress in the gas industry. [11] Work in progress in the electricity industry was not recorded for 1976.

[1] The weights shown are those used in the compilation of the index from 1973 onwards. Figures for earlier years were recalculated using the basic methods described in the May 1972 issue of Economic Trends. For further notes on the general method of constructing the index see The Measurement of Changes in Production, Studies in Official Statistics No. 25 (HMSO 1976), article on rebasing to 1975=100 in the May 1979 issue of Economic Trends and Output Measures: Occasional Paper no. 8 'Series and weights used in the index of industrial production' (CSO 1979). [2] The Order numbers and Minimum List Headings are those of the Standard Industrial Classification 1968. [3] 1978 figure is a preliminary estimate. [4] The index for production of all industries other than mineral oil, natural gas and natural gas condensates classified to MLH 104 of Order 11 Mining and quarrying. [5] These figures are of industrial output adjusted for movements in stocks. The use for some industries of series which measure deliveries rather than production can result in the index numbers shown above this heading overstating or understating the level of output.

[1] Estimates of the gross calorific values used for converting the statistics for the various fuels to therms are given in the Digest of United Kingdom Energy Statistics 1979. [2] Including net trade and stock change in other solid fuels. [3] Deliveries of petroleum products for inland consumption plus refinery fuel and refinery losses. Liquid fuels derived from coal (which are included in coal consumption) and petroleum products not used as fuels (chemical feedstock, industrial and white spirits, lubricants, bitumen and wax) are excluded. [4] The figures for nuclear and hydro-electricity represent the notional thermal input of fossil fuel that would have been needed to produce the same quantities of electricity at the efficiency of contemporary conventional steam power stations. [5] Natural gas includes both indigenous and imported natural gas and colliery methane piped to the surface and consumed at collieries or sold. [6] Including briquettes, ovoids, Phurnacite, Coalite, Rexco, etc. [7] Liquid fuels derived from coal.

[1] Where a person sustains more than one injury in a year, each such injury is included. [2] The rates for underground and surface accidents are based upon the number of manshifts worked underground and on the surface, respectively. [3] Serious injuries are also included in total injuries. [4] Total injuries are those which disabled for more than three days and are NCB figures.

TIME SERIES. Figures relate to periods of 52 weeks.

[1] Excluding coke used for heating retorts. [2] Including sales and transfers within Gas Board areas. [3] Prior to April 1973, the figures relate to disposals by merchants to consumers taking less than 10 tonnes a year, plus in the case of gas coke, direct sales to domestic premises by gas works. From April 1973, the figures relate to all disposals to merchants by producers, and from January 1975 includes issues to personnel at coke ovens. For gas coke, figures for disposals since June 1975 have assumed negligible proportions and details since then are not available. The figures shown for 1975, include gas coke up to the end of June 1975. [4] This is a balancing item after taking account of changes in known distributed stocks. [5] Disposals for export from coke ovens and gasworks.

[1] Crude and process oils comprise all feedstocks, other than distillation benzenes, for treatment at refinery plants. Refinery production does not cover further treatment of finished products for special grade such as in distillation plant for the preparation of industrial spirits. [2] Comprising 2,437 thousand tonnes gases, 3,274 thousand tonnes fuel oil and 712 thousand tonnes other products in 1978.

TIME SERIES. The figures relate to periods of 52 weeks (53 weeks in 1970 and 1975).

[1] Includes steel furnaces at steel foundries. [2] Includes continuously cast semi-manufactures. [3] Metal for castings. [4] Steel containing by weight either 12 per cent or more tungsten or both molybdenum and tungsten in respective percentages such that when the percentage of molybdenum is multiplied by two and added to the percentage of tungsten the sum is not less than 12. [5] Ingots and metal for castings containing a minimum of 0.4 per cent of chromium or nickel, 0.1 per cent of molybdenum, tungsten or vanadium or 10.0 per cent of manganese. [6] Including material for further conversion. After 1970 all finished steel figures are deliveries from home production. [7] Rails 18 kg per metre and over and sleepers, fish-plates and soleplates for use with them; from 1973, 20 kg per meter and over. [8] Plates 3 mm. thick and over including armour plate. [9] Including wire rods and hot rolled strip. [10] Deliveries. [11] Sheets under 3 mm. thick. [12] Excluding flanges. Figures before 1971 exclude welded tubes over 400 mm. outside diameter but include fittings; figures thereafter include welded tubes over 400 mm. outside diameter, but exclude fittings. [13] Excluding drop forgings.

TIME SERIES. Figures for consumption of raw cotton and production and consumption of cotton and man-made fibre yarn are for periods of 52 weeks (53 weeks in 1969 and 1975).

[1] Figures are based on returns from producers (excluding waste) and include all man-made fibres in commercial production. [2] Excluding waste yarns. [3] Yarns wholly of cotton waste, cotton yarn spun on condenser system and mixture yarns of cotton and cotton waste. [4] From 1971 onwards separate figures are not available. [5] Up to 1970 weekly average number of spindles running on cotton, spun man-made fibre and mixtures. From 1971 average of numbers running in last week of each month. Waste spinning spindles are excluded.
